

WOFFORD COLLEGE
Adjunct Lecturer

Wofford College's Department of English Language and Literature seeks applications for adjunct lecturers to teach its Seminar in Literature and Composition in spring 2021, which runs from Jan. 4-April 9. This course seeks to develop students' skills in college-level writing. It emphasizes the writing process and also introduces students to research methods and citation conventions. There is no common syllabus, and literature is conceived of in broad terms.

QUALIFICATIONS

For appointment, an advanced degree in English (M.A., M.F.A. or Ph.D.) and evidence of college-level teaching experience are required.

APPLICATION DETAILS

Applications will include a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, and contact information for at least three references who can speak to the applicant's relevant experience. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Please email applications to Dr. John Ware (warejm@wofford.edu).

WOFFORD COLLEGE

Established in 1854, Wofford College is a four-year, residential liberal arts college located in Spartanburg, South Carolina. With a student body of 1,770 undergraduates and 27 major fields of study, it is nationally recognized for its academic program, faculty, study-abroad participation, and alumni/ae. Wofford houses one of the nation's 290 Phi Beta Kappa chapters; the community also enjoys Greek Life and 19 NCAA Division I athletic teams.

Wofford's priorities reflect commitments to diversity, inclusivity and coalition building. Created spring of 2015, the President's Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Committee has executed the recommendations of Wofford's 2014 Strategic Vision Plan: to increase the diversity of students, faculty and staff, to support programming and policy geared toward equity, and to link its investment in diversity to sustainable partnerships with the Spartanburg community. Working alongside Wofford's Center for Community-Based Learning, the committee has helped Wofford restructure campus leadership, develop diversity training for faculty and staff, increase geographic, racial, ethnic, socioeconomic, and LGBTQQIA representation and increase funding for diversity-related programming.

SPARTANBURG, S.C.

Spartanburg is located in upstate South Carolina, 30 miles east of Greenville, South Carolina, an hour from Charlotte, North Carolina, and three hours east of Atlanta, Georgia. Historic Charleston and the South Carolina coast are three hours away, and Wofford sits an hour south of the artistic, culinary hub of Asheville, North Carolina. Spartanburg is a growing, diverse community that supports six college and university campuses along with numerous civic arts and cultural associations. It became the first city in South Carolina to join the Government Alliance on Race and Equity and, in 2012, became one of five cities nationally to participate in the ten-year Wellville program, a national nonprofit initiative dedicated to improving equitable well-being in U.S. cities. Spartanburg and Wofford partner on multiple community equity initiatives, including the Northside Initiative, which has brought together a diverse group of citizens to revitalize a neighborhood in ways that don't reproduce the harm of earlier urban renewal programs.
