Campus and Residence Hall Guidelines for Students

Residence halls can pose challenges for social distancing, but Residence Life will move furniture to maximize the distance between beds in each room and there will be restrictions around the use of social spaces. Residents must do their part to show respect to roommates and neighbors in the residence halls by wearing face coverings, practicing social distancing and maintaining cleanliness.

Some of the guidelines for living in residence halls include:

- No guests or visitors in rooms or apartments until at least September 14th. *The college will communicate if/when this guideline is relaxed.
- No off-campus visitors (including commuting students) in residence halls.
- Masks are required in all common areas, public spaces and in all academic buildings – this includes hallways, stairwells, elevators, meeting spaces, etc. Masks should also be worn outdoors when in the presence of others.
- Gatherings, including parties, are not allowed in residence hall rooms or apartments – residents should be the ONLY people in their respective room or apartment until at least September 14th. *The college will communicate if/when this guideline is relaxed.
- Residence halls will restrict lobbies and social spaces to maintain social distancing.
- Resident room furniture will be moved to achieve maximum distance between beds.
- All triple rooms will be reduced to double occupancy to limit student density.
- Large shared bathrooms will be stocked with disinfectant wipes so students can wipe down fixtures after each use.
- All persons on campus must practice social distancing (of at least 6 feet) at all times.
- All persons on campus should follow any posted guidelines and/or occupancy limits posted around campus.
