Wofford College invites applications for an adjunct instructor of sociology in the Department of Sociology and Anthropology. We are searching for a colleague who can teach two sections of Introduction to Sociology and one 200-level sociology course. Current course descriptions can be found in the Sociology and Anthropology Course Catalog. The successful candidate will be expected to work with the department to continue to foster an inclusive curriculum for a diverse student body and to teach first-year-friendly (FYF) courses.

Wofford College’s Department of Sociology and Anthropology enables students to immerse themselves in the study of society and culture. They learn about human thoughts and behaviors through time, from the prehistoric past through the current day. Students use social theory to investigate race, gender, class, history, religion, philosophy, politics, ethics, economies, landscapes and more. Students also practice collecting ethnographic and survey data and engage with social justice and biocultural diversity. Faculty in the department are devoted to inclusive classrooms, high-impact learning experiences, critical thinking, and civic engagement.

QUALIFICATIONS

A Ph.D. in sociology is preferred, although candidates who are ABD by start date or who have a master’s degree in sociology will be considered. Preferably, applicants should have previous teaching experience or exhibit strong interest in pedagogical development.

APPLICATION

Application materials should be emailed to the search committee chair at sociologysearch@wofford.edu. Application materials include (1) a cover letter that addresses successful teaching experiences and how your teaching will contribute in meaningful ways to our department’s commitment to justice, diversity, equity, inclusion and belonging, (2) curriculum vitae, (3) undergraduate and graduate transcripts (unofficial copies acceptable prior to hire), and (4) contact information (names, phone numbers, and emails) for three professional references.

Priority will be given to applications received by May 15, 2023. For questions, please contact Dr. Rhiannon Leebrick, interim chair of the Department of Sociology and Anthropology, at leebrickra@wofford.edu or 864-597-4555.

ABOUT WOFFORD COLLEGE

Wofford College is a place where thought leads, where ideas are celebrated and problem solving is expected. Wofford invites applicants who are focused on student success and excited to join a community committed to preparing thought leaders.
Wofford College, established in 1854, is a four-year, residential liberal arts college located in Spartanburg, South Carolina. A Phi Beta Kappa college (chartered in 1940), Wofford offers 27 major fields of study to a student body of 1,803 undergraduates. Nationally known for the strength of its academic program, outstanding faculty, experiential learning opportunities and successful and supportive graduates, Wofford is recognized consistently as a “best value” and for accessibility for low- and middle-income students. To learn more, visit wofford.edu.

EEO STATEMENT

Wofford College values diversity within our students, faculty and staff and strives to recruit, develop and retain the most talented people. Wofford College does not discriminate in employment on the basis of race, color, creed, religion, sex, sexual orientation, transgender status, gender identity, age, national origin, disability, veteran status or any other legally protected status in accordance with applicable federal, state and local laws. For information about Wofford’s Title IX compliance, visit wofford.edu/administration/title-ix.

It is the policy of Wofford College to provide reasonable accommodations for qualified individuals with disabilities for employment. If you require any accommodations to participate in any part of the hiring process, please contact HumanResources@Wofford.edu.