Wofford College invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position in computer science starting fall 2023.

EXPECTATIONS:
Wofford faculty are teacher-scholars with a high aptitude for and interest in undergraduate teaching and advising, community outreach and a commitment to the liberal arts. The successful candidate must have a passion for teaching, enjoy working with students, be committed to professional development and ongoing engagement with the discipline, and have excellent speaking and writing skills. The Department of Computer Science prides itself on preparing students in the context of a liberal arts education for successful careers as well as for graduate study. Candidates must be able and willing to teach a broad range of undergraduate courses. Most faculty members teach a few specific courses each time they are offered and teach other courses on a rotating basis.

The teaching load is 3-1-3, three course sections during the fall and spring semesters and one during the four-week Interim January term, during which professors may travel with students or teach on a variety of topics using experiential teaching methods. Wofford provides an opportunity for a sabbatical (one semester plus Interim) after every six years of service. To earn tenure after six years, faculty are expected to demonstrate excellence in teaching, continued scholarly development and service to the college.

QUALIFICATIONS:
Applicants must hold (by August 2023) a Ph.D. in computer science or a Ph.D. in a closely related area with at least 18 hours in computer science. Preference will be given to candidates with teaching experience at the collegiate level.

APPLICATION:
Application materials should be emailed to cs-search@wofford.edu. Application materials include an application letter, including a statement of teaching philosophy that should address teaching at a liberal arts college, commitment to a diverse and welcoming educational environment and a list of courses that you are qualified to teach; CV or resume (including contact information for references); and transcripts (copies are acceptable) from all higher education institutions attended.
Paper applications will also be accepted and can be mailed to:
Computer Science Department Search
Wofford College
Department of Computer Science
429 N. Church St.
Spartanburg, SC 29303

Review of applications and interviews of qualified candidates will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled.

Questions can be directed to the chair of the search, Dr. Aaron Garrett (garrettal@wofford.edu, 864-597-4529).
