Visiting Assistant Professor of Economics

Wofford College invites applications for a one-year visiting assistant professor in the Department of Economics to begin in fall 2024. The position may be extended to a second year depending on the individual's performance and the college's need.

EXPECTATIONS

The teaching load will be four courses per semester, with four sections of introductory macroeconomics in the fall. Courses for the spring semester will be determined in consultation with the hired candidate. This candidate will not be required to teach during the college's Interim, which runs the entire month of January.

QUALIFICATIONS

The preferred candidate will have a Ph.D. However, consideration will be extended to ABD candidates and individuals with a master's degree who have completed 18 graduate credit hours in economics or a closely related field. Qualified candidates with proven expertise in teaching introductory macroeconomics will be given preference. Please note that Wofford College is not able to sponsor work visas. Interested candidates must have legal authorization to work in the United States.

APPLICATION

Application material should be submitted electronically in a single document through the Job Openings for Economists Network (JOE) on the American Economic Association website (<https://www.aeaweb.org/joe/>). Application material should include (1) a cover letter explaining your interest and suitability for this position and indicating which courses you would be interested in teaching during the spring semester, (2) curriculum vitae, and (3) three letters of reference. A teaching portfolio is preferred but not required.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Questions can be directed to Dr. Timothy Bersak at bersakta@wofford.edu.
